

Should Miguel be sued for performance incident?

Written by Amarie Gipson and Nailah Scott
Thursday, 27 June 2013 00:00

---

THE BUZZ

The Issue: There is a lot of talk surrounding popular R&B singer Miguel's possible lawsuit. During the live performance of his hit single "Adorn," at the Billboard Awards on May 19, Miguel leaped from one platform to another landing on several unsuspecting fans. As seen after the show, Miguel appeared backstage with one of the fans who Miguel's leg had fallen on, to issue her an apology and an interview. A month after the incident, that fan, 21-year old Khyati Shah, claims to have been experiencing cognitive difficulties and is considering a lawsuit. Miguel's representative says, "A number of attempts were made to reach Khyati and her lawyer after the performance to see how she was doing and whether any assistance could be offered." However, there appears that there was never any communication.

Sources state that Miguel rehearsed the leap before the show, and the producers gave him to right away to proceed with the action.

Should Miguel be sued for performance incident?

Written by Amarie Gipson and Nailah Scott
Thursday, 27 June 2013 00:00

...the ... ..

Monique Silas - "No, accidents happen. She took the chance when she decided to sit by David Sanchez - "People get into car accidents every day, but if it happened to the express it is

Angela ... ..

