

Ochocinco Refuses to Lose Wedding Ring Given to Him by Evelyn

Written by Forward Times Staff
Tuesday, 11 September 2012 15:41

So, "Chad Ochocinco" Johnson is beggin' and pleadin' like there's no tomorrow trying to get Evelyn Lozada to come back to him after he allegedly head-butted her.

Unfortunately for him, she has been steadfast in saying, no way, Jose.

Meanwhile, another pic of Johnson has emerged showing how much he's still in love with her and wants the "Basketball Wives" star to be his wifey again.

The former Miami Dolphins wide receiver is refusing to lose his wedding ring, the one he received from her when they married on July in Barbados. And once again he's sporting that "I just want to love you!" t-shirt. (We're assuming he has more than one.)

According to Jose Lambiet's Gossip Extra, the lovesick puppy was spotted by paparazzi as he browsed in stores near Lincoln Road in Miami Beach.

Lozada as we reported, filed for divorce days after the August 11 marital spat at home in Davie that had Johnson arrested and cut by the Dolphins.{jcomments on}