Continuing on with the web series beat... as I said previously, I've got an inbox full of these, and will be unloading them here, after sifting through the deluge for those that I think stand out above the others.

Last Friday I featured episode 1 of Sasha Compere's *The Chronicles, which was very well received by you folks, so as soon as she drops episode 2, I'll share it here.

Let's see what you think about today's new series.

It's called Tokens the Series, and is written and directed by Tarik Davis and Don P. Hooper.

DeWanda Wise

(a name some of you will be familiar with, as she starred in

Nikyatu Jusu's

Black Swan Theory

, the first S&A Black Filmmaker Challenge winner), Tarik Davis and Don P. Hooper star.

Synopsis reads:
