The stage has been set and the Miami Heat will return to the NBA Finals. With the Pacers forcing a Game 7, Miami had their backs up against the wall but responded as defending champions should.

LeBron James led all scorers with 32 points along with eight rebounds and four assists. Dwyane Wade added 21 points and nine rebounds. His 21 points matched his postseason high and helped lead the Heat to a 99-76 blowout victory.

“By any means necessary, we took care of business,” James said. Miami led by as many as 28 points, despite shooting just under 40 percent.
